PROJECTS

Neck Fan

TOOLS-ARDUINO

Developed a portable wearable neck fan using an Arduino microcontroller for hands-free personal cooling. The system features ON/OFF and speed control functions for user comfort and convenience. Designed for use during outdoor activities, sports, and daily commuting.

Railway Track Cracks and Obstacle Detection

TOOLS-Embedded C

To design and implement an energy-efficient automatic street lighting system that ensures optimal illumination by detecting ambient light and movement, thereby conserving electricity, reducing costs, and enhancing public safety.

Automatic Street Light

TOOLS-Embedded C

To develop an intelligent system for the real-time detection of cracks and obstacles on railway tracks, aiming to prevent accidents, ensure passenger safety, and enable timely maintenance for uninterrupted railway operations
